

- CLAIM -

What is claimed is:

1) A float tube cover for use with inflated, resilient ring-shaped tubes; the float tube cover comprising:

5 a cloth cover designed to stretch around an exterior of an inflated ring-shaped tube;

the cloth cover being provided with a number of attachment clasps along an inner edge thereof for securing the cloth cover over the inflated ring-shaped tube;

10 the float tube cover further including a hand leash that is attachable at one end thereof to a wrist of a user and permanently attachable to an attachment clasp of the cloth cover at the other end;

the cloth cover including one or more pockets for storing 15 items for use while engaged in tubing on a body of water.